Mission To advance limited government, free markets and federalism

The American Legislative Exchange Council is the largest nonpartisan, voluntary membership organization of state legislators in the United States. ALEC provides a unique opportunity for state lawmakers and stakeholders from around the country to exchange ideas and develop pro-growth model policy based on research, analysis and proven business practices.

Members work together at the intersection of policy development and real-world applications. Through research, evaluation, analysis and information exchange, the American Legislative Exchange Council presents a forum for dialogue between the government and businesses as they address issues and develop policies that protect hardworking taxpayers and improve the lives of all Americans.

Our unique public-private partnership is part and parcel of the American experience. Free enterprise, paired with limited government, is the basis of American success. Working together, American Legislative Exchange Council members present real solutions to create a stable and predictable business environment and grow jobs, opportunity and economic security.
